Dear Parents and Carers,

Re: Odd Socks Day and Children in Need Next Week

As part of our continuing commitment to combat bullying and to start our Anti Bullying Week, we are asking that all pupils come to school on Monday dressed in odd socks- but with the rest of your school uniform as usual.

Many schools across the country are taking part. Odd Socks are all about fun and laughter, but more importantly they deliver a message of individuality, acceptance and tolerance. Which is what being an Odd Sock is all about... because everyone is different and that's good! We are not asking for a donation or any kind on Monday, but it would be lovely to see as many children as possible taking part.

Friday 18th November then sees our annual BBC Children In Need day, and this year we will ask that children come to school dressed up in spotty or bright clothing. On this day we would ask, for those families that are able to, that a contribution be made to Children in Need. This can be dropped into the school office, and school staff will be on the gate with collection boxes at drop off and pick up times.

We look forward having you take part.

Yours sincerely,

Sarah Mather
